Participating Organizations (Military/Professional Associations)

- 1. In all cases, the pastoral staff has the sole responsibility and discretion in carrying out church funeral services at Cade Chapel. Consequently, if a family desires to have a family minister deliver the eulogy, this request must be presented directly to either the executive or senior pastor before planning such. The pastoral staff will make the final determination. We will make every effort to include family members in the service where appropriate.
- 2. The use of “program guides” has become popular in recent years in many churches. However, we must keep in mind that the funeral is a service of worship—not a program. As such, services of worship must be officiated and conducted by the pastoral staff. In some cases, the pastoral staff may defer to other participating clergy or the Minister of Music, but in no case will the funeral be conducted from the floor by non-ministerial or laypersons.
- 3. The practice of "viewing the remains" or “final viewing” after the eulogy is strongly discouraged. The ministry of the Word is meant to help heal and comfort as we release our loved one. A “final viewing” disrupts that healing process and brings back what we are being encouraged to release. Viewings can be planned at the funeral home where family and friends can gather together to encourage each other. Please take advantage of that time so that once the funeral service begins and the casket is closed, the family is prepared for the ministry of healing through the Word. A call for final viewing will be announced before the service begins.
- 4. Because fraternal or civil rites of any kind are not a part of the worship service, these organizations should pay tribute to the deceased at another hour. Such rites can be performed at the funeral home, during family hour, or they can be performed before the funeral service begins. This should be scheduled at least 30 minutes before the beginning of the funeral. The Christian funeral however, is reserved specifically for the church.
- 5. Because families sometimes have members of different faiths (Muslim, Buddhist, Jehovah’s Witness, Mormon, etc.) we are sensitive to their presence. However, we must preserve the distinction of the Christian pulpit. We are unapologetically Christian and conducting a Christian service in the church of Jesus Christ. If there are family members who are ministers/members of a different faith who the family wants to include in the service, we will gladly include them but ask them to sit with the family and speak from the secondary lectern on the floor. Pulpit participants must be of the Christian faith.

The above policies and practices have been explained to me and I agree that I and the family I represent will be governed by them for the funeral services scheduled for our loved one.

VII. Timeliness

Most funerals can be sufficiently conducted between 45 minutes to an hour.

VII. Funeral Repast

For all funerals held at the church, the family has the option to hold a repast in the fellowship hall or family life center gymnasium. If the deceased was a church member in good standing, the church will bear the expense for the repast up to $300.00 or 100 people. If you anticipate more than this number in attendance at the repast, you must cover the additional expenses.
